The subject displayed signs of being under the influence of a controlled substance and refused to submit to a chemical test of her urine. The suspect was yelling and cursing loudly while the officer was walking the suspect out of the hospital to the patrol car. When the subject was in the patrol car, she spit out of the window and onto another officer. The officer asked the subject to place his hands behind his back so he could search him and noticed a fresh cut to his thumb and blood on both hands. Officer Cabatic asked the subject about the blood, and the subject said he had gotten off of BART and tripped and fell. The subject became agitated when the officer asked how and where he fell. While searching the subject's pocket, the officer found a large amount of coins, a 5" long silver window punch, a flashlight, iPod and other miscellaneous items. Officer Cabatic checked the parking lot for possible burglarized vehicles and found two—two of which had blood in them. Some of the victims described their

Officers determined the subject had an outstanding warrant for a probation violation. When officers searched the subject for weapons, drugs or anything illegal, they found small bags of narcotics (suspected heroin). A witness also told the officers that he saw the subject place a prescription bottle on his front porch when he saw the police arrive. This bottle contained 40 pills. ### Nextdoor.com

This is a free private social network for you, your neighbors and your community which allows you to talk to your neighbors on line. This, in turn, People use Nextdoor for many reasons: to quickly get the word out about crimes in the area, organize a Neighborhood Watch Group, track down a trustworthy babysitter, find referrals for businesses, looking for lost pets, finding new homes for unwanted items (furniture, bicycles, etc.), and many other reasons. It is very easy to sign up, and I like the fact that the site verifies users by addresses, and it won't allow people to access to a neighborhood if they don't actually live there. There is a mobile application, or you can have it sent to your email. Give it a try! www.nextdoor.com
