Scams/Other

Social Security Number Scam

On Tuesday, 03-19-19 at 3:35 p.m., a 54-year old Daly City resident received a phone call from a "972" area code from a subject who told her he was a Police Officer with the City of Daly City. The caller told the reporting party that her social security number had been compromised, and several bank accounts had been opened in her name. The caller told her the bank accounts were associated with drug cartels. The caller told her that in order to protect herself from any financial damages, she needed to immediately withdraw the money from her bank accounts and sent it to a secure account via Bitcoin. The reporting party was frightened that a "Police Officer" gave her this information and stayed on the phone with the caller the entire time. The reporting party became suspicious and asked the subject to prove he was a police officer. The subject said he would call her from the police department's phone number, and the phone did, indeed, come back to our phone number. The victim felt confident she wasn't getting scammed and withdrew $13,000 from her bank and went to a location where Bitcoin ATM's are located and deposited the money. The victim later realized she was scammed.

Even though the person called the victim back and the caller ID # came back to the police department's phone number, there are phone applications that can easily proxy a telephone number to make it appear that the call is coming from another number. If the victim had called the police department, then this would have been avoided.

We can assure you that we would never call with news like this, and we would NEVER ask you to take money out of your bank. Please pass along this story to those you know.
